

Mariam Thresia, A Mystic Saint

Pope Francis said, "Consecrated life is a journey of love to the existential peripheries" as he canonized Mariam Thresia, a religious and mystic with four others on 13 October, 2019.

Mariam Thresia was born in Puthenchira in Kerala on 26 April, 1876 in a rich and noble family. She grew up in piety and holiness under the guidance of her saintly mother, Thanda. In her intense love for God, the eight year old girl gave herself to austere penance, fasting and prayer. She wanted to be conformed ever more to the likeness of the suffering Christ, to whom she also consecrated her virginity at an early age. In imitation of Christ she helped the poor, nursed the sick, visited and comforted the lonely people of her parish. She was also blessed with the stigmata, but kept it secret to avoid attention. She received several mystical gifts like prophesy, healing, an aura of light sweet odour and frequently had ecstasies and levitations. Her entire existence was tormented by demons, and she offered her suffering for the remission of the sins of the world.

Thresia, and her three companions who joined her, led a life of austere penance and continued to help families, visiting the sick, the poor and needy. This ministry led her to start a new Congregation of the Holy family on 14 May, 1914.

Sr. Mariam Thresia died on 8 June, 1926 at the age of 50. Pope John Paul II named the late religious as Venerable on 28 June 1999 after he confirmed that she had lived a life of heroic virtue. The investigation of the miracle required for beatification was held in the Trichur eparchy from 28 April 1992 to 26 July 1993 and was validated on 22 January 1999 before receiving the approval of the medical board on 16 November 1999. Theologians then voiced their own approval on 5 January 2000.

The miracle was that of the cure of Mr. Mathew D. Pellissery, who was born in 1956 with congenital club feet. He could barely walk with great difficulty on the sides of his feet until he was fourteen.

After 33 days of fasting and prayer by the whole family, invoking the help of Mariam Thresia, his right foot was straightened during sleep on the night of 21 August 1970. Similarly after 39 days of fasting and prayer his left foot was also straightened overnight during sleep on 28 August 1971. Since then, Mathew has been able to walk normally. This double healing was declared inexplicable in terms of medical science by as many as nine doctors in India and Italy and thus met the last canonical requirement for her beatification. It was declared a miracle obtained through the intercession of Mariam Thresia by the C.C.S. on 18 January 2000 before the Pope himself issued final approval on it on 27 January 2000. John Paul II beatified Mariam Thresia on 9 April 2000 in Saint Peter's Square. Mathew Pellissery was present there during the beatification ceremony at St. Peter's Square.

The second miracle and the one needed for her canonization was investigated in the diocese of its origin and later received the formal validation of the C.C.S. in Rome on 24 June 2014. The miraculous healing of the child Christopher, who had a life threatening respiratory problem. The doctors had prescribed a particular medicine through a special ventilator which was not available at that time. On the third day the child was gasping for breath, the doctors sounded alarm bell.

The parents and grandparents who are great devotees of Mariam Thresia placing a relic of the blessed urged all to pray earnestly to Mariam Thresia. There was drastic improvement in the child in about 20-30 minutes. The immediate healing could not be explained medically. This miracle was presented and received approval from the medical board in Rome in March 2018 and theologians later confirmed it in October 2018. Pope Francis approved this miracle on 12 February 2019 which cleared her for canonization.

Glimpse from Kerala at CANA

CANA is a 'John Paul II pontifical Theological Institute for Marriage and Family Science'. The Academic Authorities of the Institute consist of the Chancellor and Rector of the Pontifical Lateran University, the President and Council of the Institute. The Supreme Pontiff shall name the President who shall be ex officio member of the Academic Senate of the Pontifical Lateran University. In my way of looking its purpose - as the Church shows her special pastoral concern and care for the great Sacrament of Matrimony, since she is conscious that marriage and family are one of the greatest gifts for the human race to make a loving healthy family in accordance with the plan of God. Consequently, this institution gives a marvellous intellectual source to motivate and to bring back unhealthy mental dumping family in the wave of the Biblical sequence.

Pastoral Planning

The meeting of all the commissions of the diocese, held on October 19, 2019, was a wonderful expression of cooperation and seriousness. After the informative exhortation by Bishop Lobo linking the topic of the day with theme of the extraordinary missionary month, followed by the homely, lively and future-oriented speech of Bishop Shyamal Bose, the secretaries and teams of the commissions sat in separate groups to go through carefully the goals, broad objectives and strategies mentioned in the draft of the pastoral plan. They came up with many suggestions for additions and modifications and also points for revision of the plans of their commissions. The whole exercise was cumbersome. But they did it wholeheartedly with active interest and the outcome was commendable.

News from Paribar Jyoti

Workshop on personality development for College students was, as some of them described it at the concluding session, a life-changing event because they came with one mindset and were going back with another mindset. As they were at the third level of education, they could perceive what was happening in them and were thankful to the facilitators for bringing about the change in their perception and attitude. The methodology based on group dynamics and participatory learning process made it interesting, informative and motivational. Spirituality was built into the process, occasionally asking them to close their eyes and reflect on the topic discussed in God, thus helping them make God-experience part of their lives.

Moment of Joy

It was a great joy for the members of Samarpan Minor Seminary to celebrate the birthday of our dear formator Rev. Fr. Subrata Kanji on 14th October 2019. On this auspicious day Rev. Fr. Subrata Kanji presided the Holy Eucharist along with Rev. Fr. Tushar Augustine Gomes, the Rector. During the Mass through his Homily he inspired each one of us to be grateful to God for everything He has provided to us. After the Mass we proceeded towards a short felicitation programme where we had many guests. Towards the end of the programme we gathered with great joy in our heart and welcomed Rev. Fr. Subrata from the core of our hearts to share the happiness of his 69th birthday by cutting a pair of cakes. We wished our beloved father with our handmade garland, card and bouquet. The programme got over with fellowship meal around 9 o'clock in the evening. We were very happy to celebrate his 69th birthday.

May the allegiance of God grant him graces and blessings that he may continue his ministry throughout his life!

XXXIII Annual Conference of Canon Law Society of India

The XXXIII annual conference of canon law society of India was held at Jnana-Deepa Vidyapeeth, Pune from October 14 to 18, 2019 on involvement of religious in the local Church with as many as 146 delegates including two priests, Fr. Panneer Selvam and Fr. Deepak Ekka, from our diocese Baruiapur. The theme of the conference was very relevant considering the importance of religious in the pastoral life of the Church. It was deliberated that pastors, being aware of the existence of delicate and complex problems, keep in mind that the fundamental principle governing the affairs of the Church should be charity. Therefore, pastors are required not to be dictators for the groups that are put under their charge but be examples the whole flock can follow. On the other hand a religious needs to cultivate a renewed ecclesial awareness, collaborate with the pastors of the Church and lend their services towards the unified pastoral work for the building up of the Church. There are increasing concerns today in Church in India on multi-faceted issues covering everyone in the society. There are hazardous situations which may have a detrimental impact on the life of the Church. Thus, the emphasis was put on having an open and constructive dialogue as how to close the gap between the pastors and religious in the present ecclesiastical situation in India and throughout the world.

Annual Retreat of Priests

Every member of the clergy looks forward to the annual spiritual retreat with great anticipation. The pastoral ministry of clergy within the Church is such that it would remain empty and would end in utter failure if continuous prayer were absent and if times of renewal were neglected. Thus, the diocese of Baruipur organized the annual retreat for priests from 7- 11 October 2019 at Dhyana Ashram. This year 23 clergy were able to get away for five days of prayer, reflection and personal renewal.

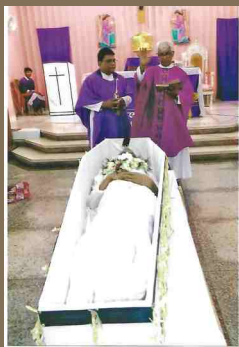

Rev. Fr. Sebastien Raj S.J. was invited to be the director this year and was able to come to share his insights and inspirations with the priests making their retreats. During the five-days retreat he helped the priests to seek the Lord; to open their hearts; to experience His love and mercy; to allow Him to love them and engulf them; to accept His plans for them and be willing to be moulded by Him according to His will.

At the end of the retreat the priests returned to their parishes with spiritual rejuvenation to continue their pastoral ministry. May the inspiration and spiritual stimulation that they have gained at this retreat be reflected in their continued pastoral work among the people of God in Baruipur.

The diocese is grateful to Rev. Fr. Sebastien Raj S.J. for obliging to spare his precious time in guiding this retreat.

Home for the Sick and Elderly Priests

As a religious practice the catholic priests turn their back to their families and go forth to carry the cross to follow Christ and advance His mission. Bereft of support from family and their shifting flocks, sick and elderly priests seem to see a dark tunnel ahead. It is here that Baruipur diocesan authorities have stepped in to ensure a worry-free, comfortable life to ailing and aging priests with an establishment of a home for them. This would enable them to lead reasonably happy lives with hardly any tension, as they had the confidence that diocese would take care of them when needed.

For last few years, the idea of having one centralized facility for retired priests of the diocese got crystallized and accordingly Rev. Fr. Pradeep Roy, one of the senior most priests in the diocese, blessed the laying of the foundation for a new house on 15 November 2018. Tuesday, 22 October, 2019 will be forever etched in the annals of Baruipur Diocese as a truly historic day. On this day the dream of the diocese to have its own home for the sick and elderly priests found its concrete expression with the blessing and inauguration of a new residence by Most Rev. Linus Nirmal Gomes S.J., the bishop emeritus of the diocese in the accompaniment of present bishop, Salvatore Lobo and Coadjutor bishop, Shyamal Bose who presided over the Holy Eucharist. Bishop Salvatore Lobo in his edifying homily put emphasis on Respect to Elders, an adage older than the individuals it urges us to revere. He underscored, 'as medical science and other factors lead to long life, it is important to recognize the presence of the growing number of older people as a blessing for the Church and society. We can learn from the experience of the generation that preceded us. Blessing of this house is to be considered as repayment of the gratitude, rather than showing our generosity. The Church has always great respect for the older people. The forth commandment: "Honour your father and mother as the Lord your God commanded you." God wants a proper respect for the dignity and the health and wellbeing of the elderly. He also alarmed that they are to be safeguarded from slipping into isolation and depression during the sunset years of their lives. Thus, learning from, being inspired by and supporting them with a visit and phone calls would paint a more expansive picture of what respect should look like.'

The construction of this ailing and aging-friendly building, with all required amenities, was closely monitored and managed by Rev. Fr. Saumen Malik, director of Pastoral Centre and coordinator of diocesan commissions. We appreciate and thank him for his service. The diocese gratefully acknowledges and thanks Catholic diocese of Baruipur, Church in Need Konigstein, Germany and Pontificium Opus a Propagatione Fidei, Roma for their generosity.

Archbishop Thomas Marwan (Gandhi nagar) Chairman in his welcome address said that we are filled with Holy Spirit. We need to celebrate sacrament of Confirmation in meaningful way. We must prepare a Sacred way, since it is a Sacrament of faith. There were many resource persons who helped us to reflect on the Sacrament of Confirmation in a meaningful way. Fr. Clement Vallurassery spoke on confirmation catechesis. Fr. Joshan Radgrigus spoke on the role and identity of the confirmation catechesis. Mr. Colin Camino shared his personal experience on the Empowerment of the Holy Spirit on Confirmation. This Conference was an eye opener for all the participants because in the present situation all of us are facing the same problems and challenges. Thus, it is a time for us to reflect that all of us have the duty to do something for the faithful like Jesus Christ by proclaiming and witnessing to the people.
